

Department for Work and Pensions (DWP)

This is the main Government department responsible for ensuring that people get any financial help to which they may be entitled. They are there to assist families with children, pensioners, the disabled and their carers and also people of working age.

DWP has produced both quick guides and toolkits for Universal Credit and for Personal Independence Payments. These are designed to inform partner organisations about Universal Credit and Personal Independence Payments, and to help them explain the changes to their clients or direct them to other appropriate sources of help.

The guides/toolkits are available at:

Social Security Scotland

Social Security Scotland is an executive agency of the Scottish Government, established to manage the benefits devolved to Scotland in accordance with the principles of the Social Security Scotland Act 2018.

The Carer's Allowance Supplement is an extra payment for those in Scotland who get Carer's Allowance on a particular date. The supplement is paid twice a year. SSS clients should call 0800 182 2222 for more information.

The Scottish Government manages various benefits and up to date information can be found here: <https://www.socialsecurity.gov.scot/benefits>

Winter Fuel Payment (WFP)

Anyone born on or before the qualifying date (for winter 2024/2025 this is 22nd Sept 1958) should receive a Winter Fuel Payment from the Government. The qualifying age for WFP will change in line with ongoing changes in the State Pension Age.

<https://www.gov.uk/winter-fuel-payment/eligibility>

Payment is usually made automatically to those in receipt of State Pension and some other benefits, but some people (those receiving only housing benefit, council tax reduction or child benefit for example) may have to make a claim.

The payment is £100 - £300 per household depending on circumstances. See <https://www.gov.uk/winter-fuel-payment> for more details, or contact the Winter Fuel Payment helpline on 0800 731 0160.

Low Income Winter Heating Assistance in Scotland.

The Low Income Winter Heating Assistance will be introduced from winter 2022 to replace the current UK Government Cold Weather Payment scheme. Scottish Government have now confirmed that a guaranteed payment of £50.00 will be made to approximately 400,000 low-income households.

To be eligible, you must be in receipt of one of the following benefits (although additional qualifying criteria for some of these benefits may also need to be satisfied):

- Pension Credit
- Income Support
- Income-based JSA
- Income-related ESA
- Universal Credit
- Support for Mortgage Interest

The payment will replace the UK Government's cold weather payments.
